PARTIES.

Mary Gates Redmond was the charming little hostess at an enjoyable party at which she entertained a number of her small friends.

Decorations in keeping with Halloween were used throughout the house, various Halloween games were played and dainty refreshments were served. Miss Louise Wiegand presided as fortune teller, reading the future for the young guests in a most interesting way.

Those present were: Mary S. Goggin, Alice Myles, Octavia and Harriet Glasgow, Elizabeth Hawkins, Katherine Kilburn, Madeline Pisk, Nina and Nancy Edwards, Anne and Mary Pittman, Henry Goggin, Joe Glasgow, Julius Herman, Herndon Kemp, Dave Robertson, Warren Lowe, Charles and James Kilburn, Charlie Wilcox.

Mrs. Henry Thomas Bowie and Mrs. James Graham McNary will entertain with an "at home" on Tuesday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. McNary, 1315 Rio Grande street, in honor of Mrs. John C. McNary and Mrs. William O. McNary.

Little Herman Andreas was the host on Monday evening at a Halloween party, given in celebration of his fourth birthday anniversary. An attractive color scheme of yellow and white was developed in the decorations, and pumpkins, brownies and bats, suggestive of the season, were everywhere in evidence.

Those in attendance were: Louise Crawford, Mary Virginia Season, John and Sam Russell, Alice Rand, Ephraim Krupp, Gladys Prudential, Portia Andrews, Lawrence Prahman, Clarence Roberts, James Turner, Lee Orndorff, Ethel Jones, Lorretta Waddell, Mildred Miller.

Assisting Mrs. Andreas in entertaining the little folks were: Mesdames Frank Turner, V. B. Andrews, A. Andrews, James Crawford, French S. Cary, F. H. Seamon and Lee Orndorff.

Miss Kate Krause entertained a number of friends last evening at a delightful informal party at her home on North Stanton street.

"Questions and Answers" was one of the games causing much merriment, and various Halloween games were enjoyed. Delightful refreshments were served, and this was followed by dancing.

A surprise party was given in honor of Homer Darr at the home of Miss Margarette Redmond, 806 East Missouri street. Many prize games were played. Lloyd Cunningham won the first prize in the advertisement contest and Mr. Darr won the second prize.

Buchor's four piece orchestra furnished the music.

Mrs. Gertsenburger sang and played the piano and Sam Darr played the mandolin. Mrs. H. Darr sang and Otto Huchor accompanied her on the piano. Miss Margarette Redmond played several selections on the piano. Several quartet songs were rendered by Leonard Warden, Mr. Malone, Mr. Blas-supper and Mr. Price.

Outdoor games were played while supper was being prepared. The consolation prize winners were Guy Price, Leonard Warden and Homer Darr. The house was nicely decorated with strips of green and red crepe paper, draped from the corners of the rooms to the chandeliers, and a very pretty punch stand was located in one corner of the room, draped with green and red crepe paper, under which punch was served.

The dining room table was very prettily decorated with strips of crepe paper draped over the table and around the sides of the table.

Hot chocolate, sandwiches, cake, bonbons and fruit were served. The yard was lighted with Chinese lanterns.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. Darr, Mr. and Mrs. F. Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. A. Zanker and Mr. and Mrs. F. Gertsenburger; Mrs. W. A. Bourland, Mr. Redmond, Miss Margarette Redmond, Karl Goodale, C. Swankhouse, Miss Runcamp, Mr. Runcamp, Miss Della Wolf, Miss Hazel Fuller, Hamp Walters, Mr. Stevens, Melrose Morgan, Ernest Fuller, Miss Emma Crozen, Ted Fletcher, Louis Adams, Charley Wolf, William Bourland, Charley Fuller, Ernest Kinman, Rocco Brown, John Buquor, Otto Buquor, Mr. Blessen, Leonard Warden, Guy Price, Mr. Malone, Lloyd Cunningham, Oscar Darr and Sam Darr.
